

EACH Comes to ICA

Forging Impactful Partnerships Among Health Communication Researchers, Health Professionals, and Community Stakeholders
Communication Division of ICA and EACH

Sunday May 28, 10:30-11:45am - Sheraton (Simcoe)

EACH is a multidisciplinary community for people active in healthcare communication research, training, practice and policy.

Why join the discussion between EACH and ICA members?

To pursue opportunities to:

- ◆ Translate research to transform healthcare delivery and policy
- ◆ Gain access to healthcare settings, healthcare providers, patients and families
- ◆ Explore and participate in communication skills education for health care learners
- ◆ Expand the scope of your research
- ◆ Connect and collaborate with professionals from multiple healthcare and social science disciplines in Europe and beyond

To share expertise and insights for:

- ◆ New healthcare research projects
- ◆ Application of communication theory and methods to healthcare research and practice
- ◆ Successful interdisciplinary partnerships between ICA and EACH
- ◆ Presenting at international EACH events - annual conference, webinars, and more
- ◆ EACH Pairing with Colleagues program on which the ICA Pairing program is based

For more information, please contact our chairs:

Co-sponsored by ICA Health
Communication Division

Matthew Matsaganis, Ph.D.
Rutgers University
matthew.matsaganis@rutgers.edu

Marie Haverfield, Ph.D.
San Jose State University
marie.haverfield@sjsu.edu

Christopher J. Koenig, Ph.D.
San Francisco State University
cjkoenig@sfsu.edu