Re: application for the position of Deputy National Representative for Switzerland

I am a Swiss general internist and share my professional time between a private practice in general internal medicine in Geneva (50%) and a teaching and research position at the Geneva University Hospitals and the Geneva Faculty of medicine (50%). I am the coordinator of the communication skills training program for the Geneva medical students and am the director of a Faculty program for chief residents and attending physicians at the Geneva University Hospitals.

I have been member of tEACH for the last 6 years and have facilitated several workshops at several EACH meetings. I would be happy to apply for the position of Deputy National Representative for Switzerland. I have been involved during 5 years in a national project aiming at improving the assessment of communication skills at the federal licensing exams. Through this project, I had the opportunity to meet and collaborate with most coordinators/directors of communication skills training programs in the Swiss medical schools and have a rather good knowledge of the Swiss teaching network. I also helped organize two Swiss meetings for EACH members and teachers/researchers in the field of communication during the last 4 years.

I think that I could help Nicola Diviani create a stronger Swiss communication network and publicize EACH actions and activities.

Yours sincerely
